GROVETON HIGH SCHOOL

Fairfax County

Alexandria, Virginia

Reviewing our past to insure our future.

The year 1960, Groveton's fourth and last year as a Junior-Senior High School, will be remembered as the year of evaluation, not only by students, but by the faculty and by the educational department of Virginia as well. The staff seized upon this opportunity to make available to the students, faculty, and community the results of the evaluation in order that it may be a guide for the future as well as a record of the past.

This presentation of the strengths and weaknesses formed during the past four years is intended to be motivation in bettering ourselves and our school in every way. In order to accomplish this: LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT OURSELVES.

After selecting a theme, the Tigera-ma staff faced the difficult task of choosing a cover design and color scheme. Following a lively discussion, it was decided that these two should help develop the theme.

The blocks are an abstraction of the years in Groveton's history. Even as the events of this year are foremost in our minds, we realize that the past years have built one upon another, forming a foundation for this year. The year 1960 reflects all that has happened in the four years of Groveton's existence.

To different people, colors hold various meanings. To ancient tribes of Indians, red signified warmth, exuberance, and the blood of life itself. In the National Honor Society, Future Teachers, and Future Homemakers, red symbolizes character and youth. To most people, black is associated with bad or the absence of good; white, with purity and faultlessness. Between these two extremes is gray. In evaluating our school, the results indicated weaknesses and strengths — not all good, not all bad, thus "shades of gray." The 1960 staff presents its Evaluation edition — not in traditional school colors — but in gray, with red, symbolizing life itself, flowing through the pages.

faculty committee decided that the well-planned curriculum with teachers who have wide and varied experiences, the majority of whom have had over five years of experience and thirty per cent over ten years, met the academic needs of the students. There were ten teachers serving their first year in the profession who expressed new ideas and teaching methods.

In this pre-evaluation, the findings of which were to be submitted to the state evaluators, it was realized that certain improvements would better the instructional program. The faculty desired an opportunity to review new material having recently been published, a better storage space for audio-visual equipment, maps and charts, a more systematic effort to promote pupil self-discipline, and a more effective screening of students interested in advanced courses.

Just as Mrs. Croom and Miss Linder evaluate their students in the new language laboratory, the eighty-one other teachers find it necessary to evaluate their students and methods of instruction daily. They endeavor to present their subjects in a manner that will help each student to use his ability to the best advantage.

December 1 found Groveton with a vacant principal's office.

The faculty honored Mr. and Mrs. Chesley at a banquet held at Thompson's Corner on November 30.

Groveton bids good-bye to Mr. Chesley and others.

Mr. Chesley, Groveton's first principal, opened the door and welcomed students to the new school which held its first classes in September, 1956. For three and a half years, Mr. Chesley saw many of his former dreams and hopes become realities. Even before Groveton was officially open, Mr. Chesley was busy preparing schedules, hiring teachers, and making trips to Mt. Vernon High to introduce himself to the students who would transfer to Groveton the following September.

As a result of his resignation in November, 1959, four staff positions had to be filled. Because Mr. Gibbs was appointed principal, Mr. Davis, Junior Guidance Counselor, took Mr. Gibbs' previous position as Assistant Principal. Mr. Taylor then became Counselor, which left one vacant place—that of a Social Studies teacher. This was taken by a newcomer, Miss Wellington, from New York. The old Maxim, "Man is adverse to change" was certainly disproved by the efficient way in which these four people assumed their new positions in Groveton's administration.

Tigarama salutes Mr. Gibbs, our second Principal.

"Mr. George M. Gibbs was appointed to the position of principal at the School Board meeting last night," announced Joe Powell, S. C. A. President, December 2, 1959.

Mr. Gibbs, a native Virginian, received his B. S. from William and Mary, and his M.Ed. from the University of Virginia. He came to us in our first year, serving as Head Football Coach. The next year he was promoted to the position of Assistant Principal in administration, and served in this capacity for two years. With the resignation of Mr. Chesley, the School Board turned to the one person who could fill this all-important position.

With his patience, knowledge, and understanding, Mr. Gibbs has contributed much to our improvement and achievement. His ideas and convictions have reflected in our standards, helping us to promote ourselves and our school.

For his understanding, service, loyalty, friendship, and dedication to the welfare and education of American youth, and for helping make Groveton a school of quality and high ideals, we, the staff, are pleased and honored to dedicate this 1960 TIGERAMA to our second principal, Mr. Gibbs.

Mr. Gibbs, our new principal, works long hours preparing for the school's evaluation.

In our first year, Mr. Gibbs served as Head Football Coach and Phys. Ed. teacher. The first football game with McLean found Mr. Cunningham and him drenched from the downpour.

In our second year, Mr. Gibbs was promoted to Assistant Principal. In this position for two years, he found little time for a leisure lunch.

A happy family, Randy, Mrs. Gibbs, and Cheryl, eagerly await "Dad's" arrival after a busy day's work at school.

Students enjoy many improvements made by School Board.

Ginnie Peirce, Circulation Manager, presents Mr. Woodson, Superintendent of the Fairfax County School Board, with a 1959 TIGERAMA.

Due to the outstanding achievements of the language department, Groveton was one of the two in the country chosen by the Fairfax County School Board to receive a language laboratory. Through the efforts of the School Board, the football stadium, with drainage system and cylinder track, was completed. The bleachers, with a seating capacity of 2,000, accommodated many spectators at the home football games. Another asset was the $35,000 fence the school board helped to purchase.

The cafeteria took on a new look with new chairs, tables, and drapes, while the front of the school got a new parking lot and convenient adjoining steps.

The numerous items that Groveton has gained this year with the aid of the School Board have improved the program and the appearance of the school.

On October 3, Mr. W. T. Woodson, Mr. Emory Chesley, Mr. Pat Cunningham, Mr. Robert Marshall, Mr. Hillis Lory, Mr. Joseph Baker, and Mr. James Linaberg participated in the dedication of Groveton's new football field.

Theodore S. Herriot, Dr. Merton S. Parsons, and Dr. Hillis Lory. Standing: Mr. W. T. Woodson, Superintendent of Schools.

New Administration faces school evaluation.

For the first time in Groveton's history the principal's office was vacant. On November 30, Mr. Chesley's resignation became effective and no replacement was made until Mr. Gibbs, then Assistant Principal, was appointed on the night of December 1, by the school board. The Junior Class Guidance Counselor, Mr. Davis, was appointed the new Assistant Principal on December 10, and assumed his duties on December 14.

Several new and well-qualified teachers replaced those who left at the end of the first semester. It took a while for these newcomers to adjust to new surroundings, but they soon grew accustomed to Groveton's routine.

Each department in Groveton, headed by a departmental chairman, evolved itself this year. The advantages of our present teaching methods were pointed out, and worthwhile suggestions were made.

Mrs. Janie H. Gentry, Guidance Director; Mr. Gilmore Lave, Assistant Principal of Instruction; and Mr. Robert Davis, Assistant Principal of Administration confer on school matters with Mr. George M. Gibbs, Principal.

Mrs. Helen Babb, Mrs. Mary Becker, Mrs. Louise DeFrancis, and Mrs. Dorothy Williams capably assist the school in administration.

The department heads, who played a major role in Groveton's evaluation are, First row: Miss Gentry, English; Mrs. Ring, Music; Mrs. Stinger, Mathematics; Miss Pauley, Physical Education; Mrs. Bryson, Business; and Miss Wood, Science. Second row: Mr. Haslett, Industrial Arts; Mrs. Rabunsky, Home Economics; Miss Mulligan, 8th grade Curriculum; and Mr. Lyons, Social Studies.

"What are your plans for the future?" is a question often asked by Groveton's Guidance Department each day. These counselors not only helped students with their high school schedules, but also helped them in choosing colleges or coreers.

Kudar Preference Tests, which showed Groveton students the fields of their interests, were available upon request and scholarship and college entronce exominations were offered. Four days in October were devoted to the Stote SCAT and STEP testing program; the results of which were given in Febbruary to students ond porents. The lowo Reoding Test was given in the spring.

Well-informed representotives from numerous colleges were speakers on College Doy, November 3. Members of the junior class served os guides for the speakers, parents, ond students. For the first time, interested students from ony grode could ottend.

During Febbruary, four days were observed os Coreer Week. People of many different professions informed the students of the vorious job opportunities. Later in Morch, a Military Information Doy was held to inform the boys of their military obligotions.

Our library opened in September with 1,000 new books and two new, hard-working librarians. All pamphlets, records, and films have been catalogued and all available magazines are protected by plastic covers.

A friendly, relaxed atmosphere prevails in the library. Students may renew books and return to their classes during the period. Whether a student's objective in the library is to do research work or just browse leisurely, he will find adequate information, guidance, and enjoyment.

English is one of the most important subjects taught, and is required of all Groveton's 1700 students. Students are given many opportunities for self-expression through the elective courses Drama I and II, Public Speaking I and II, and Journalism I and II. A better understanding of the English grammar, the works of the world's greatest authors, essay writing, and vocabulary enlargement produces a well-rounded English student.

Creative work, now stressed in English classes, is often given recognition in the literary magazine, Oncirata. The Drama students have produced and put on several plays, including excerpts from "Macbeth" and "An Evening with Shakespeare." Hundreds of Grovetonites attended the Catholic University Shakespearean plays. Students participating in the public speaking classes have acquired a knowledge of parliamentary procedure along with speech improvement, and have started Parliamentary Practice clubs.

Over 1,000 students were enrolled in the Social Studies Department of Gravettan High School, and studied in such fields as civics, world geography, world history, U.S. and Virginia government, and U.S. and Virginia history.

To make the courses well-rounded, the Social Studies teachers placed much emphasis on special projects dealing with current events. For example, several classes did projects on Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States, and on the President's European and South American travels. These teachers also encouraged Social Studies students to think objectively and critically on world problems and controversial issues. Many students took field trips to the capital in Washington, D.C., to sit in on a session of Congress and observe the Senate filibusters on the Civil Rights Bill, toured the F. B. I. building, and visited Fairfax County Government. To help in the instruction of Social Studies, such aids as films, tape recording, records, maps, and charts were used.

Government students show great interest in the discussion led by Mr. Gordon Malmfeldt, of the F. B. I. during Career Week. After class he talked with Carl Berry, Pam Williams, Joe Kenny, Marie Eighth graders, numbering 450, were introduced in September to the busy high school schedule. The former three-period program, ESSO, was cut down to two periods, consisting of English and Social Studies, the required 8th grade courses. For the first time, French I and Algebra I were offered to the more capable students. Presented as electives were mathematics, science, and exploratory courses in industrial arts, homemaking, general music, and art. The science program was lengthened to a full year course while the Home Economics and Industrial Arts were extended to a full semester.

Plays, clubs, and dances were the extra-curricular activities open to 8th graders. A field trip to Gettysburg on April 2, and career projects during Career Week were entertaining and educational. An inaugural ball held in October for the 8th grade class, honored 8th grade officers, as did the "Harvest Moon Ball" in November. Their Christmas project became their charity project for the year, when they sponsored a record hop in December. This brought a profit of $50 which was given to less fortunate families in the area.

After three months of impatient waiting, Groveton High School's new language laboratory was finally completed. Well-trained, qualified teachers composed the staff of the Mathematics Department. They instructed approximately 1440 students in courses such as: 8th Grade Mathematics, Mathematics I and II, Algebra I, II and Advanced Algebra, Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry, introduction to Analysis, and Trigonometry.

A basic requirement of a "C" average was set by the Guidance Department for students continuing into higher mathematics. Seniors who took the two advanced classes of Trigonometry-Solid Geometry, and Advanced Algebra-Analysis were better prepared for college mathematics work. Mobiles and other geometric designs were created by geometry students to help decorate the school for Christmas. Students were encouraged to enter mathematics projects in the Science Fair. Interests were cultivated by construction work done on symmetry and drawing a room to scale.

A variety of courses and the benefit of different teaching methods made up for teacher replacements and inadequate laboratory equipment in the Science Department. Grovetonites, numbering about 1060, participated in 8th Grade Science, General Science I and II, Biology, Chemistry and Physics.

Miss Wood registered 135 biology students of Graveton's Science Department, who traveled by train to New York together with science classes of other area schools. A visit to the American museum and the Planetarium highlighted this trip. On February 11, thirty-five members of Mr. Hawkins' Physics class went to Virginio Electric and Power Compony, that furnished the lunch and transportotion.

Several students in the Science Department entered projects in the Science Fair which was held in March. There were many unusual projects displayed and judged. One concerned the effect of rodiation an frag eggs; onother showed the effects of a rabbit when his poncreos was removed and cells from o rot's poncreos were substituted.

Newcomers to the Science Department at mid-term are Mr. Richard A. Tylka, who received his B.S. from California State Teacher's College, and Mr. William F. Haugh, who was awarded his A.B. from the University of North Carolina.

Ducky Blair, Billy Wiesman, Robert Huneycutt, and Lisa Dunn gather around Alan Haaver as he explains the operation of his electronic chemical-testing apparatus. His entry was later placed in the Northern Virginia Science Fair.

In the Physical Education and Health Department the students are instructed in soccer, hockey, basketball, football, track, archery, tennis, softball, golf, calisthenics, first aid, driver education, and health. One week of every month the girls' and boys' classes enjoy co-recreation. They participate in dancing, ping pong, volleyball, and badminton on these days. Through this program, many of the phases of developing athletics skills and healthful habits are introduced.

Students in this department served as hostesses to the Evaluating Committee, as well as giving teas and holding coffee hours for the faculty. Social service projects, such as the Junior Red Cross, were supported by the Homemaking Department. It displayed its many activities through attractive bulletin boards and hall showcases.

From time to time, art students held exhibits in the main lobby and in the showcases. Together with the Art Guild, the art students made backdrops and other scenery for musical and dramatic productions.

Music Department Offers

Throughout the year, the Music Department provides students with a chance to express their interest in and appreciation of music.

In the chorus, students may progress during their high school years from 8th grade chorus to Symphonic choir, the most advanced chorus. The Charmettes, an accelerated girls' group, is the newest addition to the Choral Department. Other singing groups are the Girls' Chorus and the Mixed Chorus. Members of Groveton's Symphonic Choir were chosen to be in the All-State Chorus, which is comprised of the best vocalists from the high schools in Virginia.

The Band is divided into two sections, the Reserve Band and the Concert Band. The former is a training group for those students interested in performing in musical programs as the Concert Band does. However, all choruses and both band groups present the annual Jubilee in February. Band students are given an opportunity to be judged by competent musicians at the Band clinic, Band Festival, All-State Band, Band Solo and Ensemble Festival, and the University of Virginia Band Day.

How would you like to design rockets and skyscrapers? Or maybe you would like to mold the metal that composes them. Five hundred boys found that Industrial Arts was the department for them. Courses offered include working with leather, textiles, plastics, wood, and metal. These subjects not only help a student in deciding his vocation, but also serve as guides in learning to work with others.

A new addition to the industrial laboratories this year was the installation of a Graphic Arts, or printing, section within the general shop. This is one of many Industrial Arts labs which provide the necessary exploration and experimentation for students.

D. O. Program offers on-the-job experience.

Twenty-eight of Groveton's students are learning various trades and service occupations in the Diversified Occupations program. Some of the courses offered are carpentry, automobile mechanics, drafting, automobile body and fender repair, laboratory work, and dental assisting. While in school these students are preparing for a specific occupation—one which can be entered upon graduation.

The Diversified Occupations class is broken into two basic types of instruction, the generally related and the directly related courses. The latter, taking one period during the week, includes study units which are beneficial to everyone regardless of the field of work in which they may be engaged. These units may include a study of taxing, insurance, employer-employee relationships, labor laws, etc. The directly related instructional classes, demanding four periods a week, relates to the specific field of work in which the student is to be engaged.

This program is one in which businessmen co-operate with the school to help train students for office work during the afternoons.

Vocational Office Training provides a chance for the student to find his real job interest while in school. It practically assures the student full-time employment upon graduation from high school and enables the student to earn while he learns.

Mrs. Dodge, the cafeteria monoger, tollies the doy's receipts.

Parents serve school.

Student activities at Groveton are supported by some very important people—the parents. Tiger Baasters, Band Patrons, and the S. P. T. A. play a very important part in the life and activities here.

Good sportsmanship in all athletic programs was promoted by the 135 Tiger Baasters. They sponsored athletic banquets, sockhops, and Intramural games, and could be seen selling programs at home football games. A "stop and go" projector was the Tiger Baasters' gift to the Athletic Department.

Parents of the 145 students who were members of the Golden Tiger Band, the Reserve Band, and the Tigerettes automatically became Band Patrons. Their enthusiastic support was shown as they took charge of concession stands at home games, and assumed sponsorship of the "Harvest Festival" dance on November 21. They also collected $1,500 worth of ads for band concerts.

To increase the efficiency and interest of their meetings, the Groveton Student-Parent-Teacher Association held only five regular meetings instead of the usual number of nine. In October, a "Back to School Night" was held, giving the parents an opportunity to meet the faculty members. A reception was given for Mr. Gibbs, the new principal, Mrs. Gibbs, and Mr. Davis, the new assistant principal.

Parents operate concession stands during football games selling hats, pennants, and pins to Groveton students.

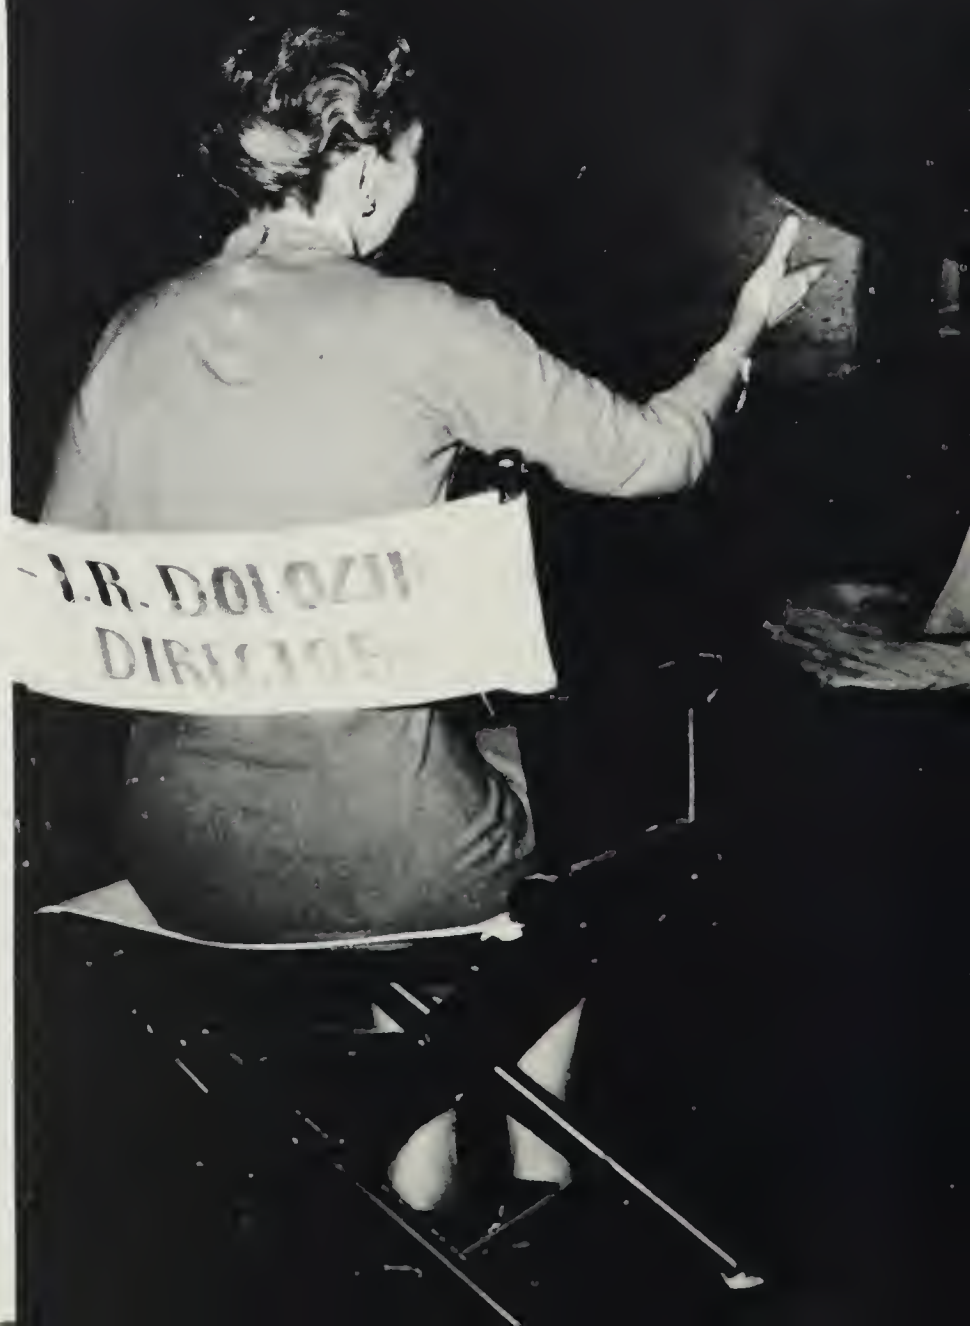

Appraising our opportunities in activities . . .

. . . the faculty committee found that the extra curricular program met the needs of the students to an outstanding degree. This was verified by the fact that "quality" ratings were given to Tigerama when it entered conferences of four press associations, to the Drama Club when it entered District and State competition, to the Choruses and Band in the Music Festival, and to the Debate Team through contests and critiques.

It was also discovered that fifty-six percent of all students participated in some school activity, and that thirty percent were members of one or more of the twenty-seven active clubs.

Though there were many things to be praised, the Pupil Activity Committee saw spots for improvement, such as more interest in forensics, debate, dramatic performances and the elimination of frequent interruptions of class by unrelated activities.

Just as Mrs. Dolozik directs and criticizes the actors in "Alice in Wonderland" in order that they may constantly improve, so the sponsors and members of the other activities strive for perfection. This is achieved only through repeated evaluations. As Shakespeare puts in "All the world's a stage; the people players;" therefore a student participating in any activity should play his part well.

Active Student Government

Remember the schedule cords you received on the first day of the 1960 school year? The Student Cooperation Association was in charge of distributing those cords to students entering Groveton. Throughout the year, the S.C.A. worked vigorously for the student body. They supported a pep band which played at numerous athletic events, and conducted the Magazine Campaign in October, and a foreign student forum assembly on February 24. New teachers were welcomed to Groveton at a picnic in the fall.

Members of the S.C.A. represented this organization at both District and State Conventions, the State Workshop, and many other conventions to which they were eligible. They also held their own Leadership Training Course on January 29.

Student directories were sold during lunch shifts, and sports courtesy cards were distributed at basketball games.

A new Honor Code was introduced by the S.C.A. in order to improve general school attitude, behavior, and sportsmanship. Home Room Representatives voted on the Honor System in February and approved it on a trial basis after a discussion of its merits in the home room.

This hard-earned money was to be used to build a fence around the athletic field. However, the school board has generously appropriated funds for this purpose and the magazine money will be distributed among the various activities.

Miss Clovis' Eighth Grade Esso class was the High Home Room for the entire campaign. High Salesman, Collin Campbell, sold $158.66 worth. Running second was Judy Hinkle, with $149.91.

Homecoming activities are dampened by rain, but spirits are high.

"High winds and thunderstorms are predicted for Saturday afternoon." Despite this gloomy warning, the Groveton-Osborn game was played on October 24, at Lee High School. This game initiated the second annual Homecoming weekend of Groveton High.

It was unfortunate that the Homecoming game had to be played at Lee, but a large crowd filled the stands despite the weather and last minute change.

The candidates for Homecoming queen were nominated by the Varsity football squad, and the queen was elected by popular vote of student body. The girls were escorted to the center of the field during halftime as the band played "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." The tense crowd waited breathlessly to learn who the new queen would be. At the end of the procession, Mr. Chesley, assisted by Bobbie Dohl, crowned Sandra Morris.

In the last quarter the rain that had been threatening broke loose. However, a few staunch fans remained to cheer the Tigers on to a 13-13 tie with the Yellow Jackets.

Sandra Morris, Homecoming Queen, is congratulated by Bobbie Dohl, 1958 Queen, and Mr. Chesley.

Perfected and polished tones from Golden Tiger Band assure good

Using the newly-constructed football field to advantage, the Golden Tiger Band impressed many spectators with their marching ability. The band presented a different halftime show at every home game, in addition to traveling to Mt. Vernon and Fairfax. Their marching season was climaxed when they accompanied the choral department in the performance of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" at the last football game.

With the presentation of the Christmas Concert, December 29, the band introduced their formal concert season, which was followed by Jubilee '60. This event was the result of the combined efforts of the band and choruses. The Spring Concert, May 6, concluded the band concert season.

Richard Bawles, Assistant Director of Bands, of the University of Florida, conducted a two-day band clinic on February 25 and 26. On March 26, the band entered the District IV Band Festival, in which they played Grade VI music, the most difficult variety. The Reserve Band, composed of fifty-eight instrumentalists, is a group training for entry into the Golden Tiger Band. Due to experience gained in elementary school, many of the members are able to play Grade II and III music. At the annual Seventh Grade Nite, held in May, the Reserve Band demonstrated what the rising 8th graders could expect in the way of instrumental music education.

The Tigerettes placed third in the corps division of the Langley Park Invitation Baton Twirling contest also in November and second place in the George Washington Birthday Parade.

In addition to developing new routines for each football game, the Golden Tigerettes planned and conducted a baton twirling contest, held on March 5. It was the first contest of this nature to be sponsored by Groveton High School.

At the Thanksgiving Assembly, the Charmettes made their debut, in their striking, new bright red jumpers.

This was followed by a Christmas concert, and the annual Jubilee which was presented by the band and chorus. The theme for the Jubilee was "It's Music—Man!" The program consisted of twenty-one acts ranging from quartets to groups of 270, including a medley from "Brigadoon" by the Symphonic Choir, a Gay Nineties fantasy by the Mixed Chorus, a carnival suite by the Girls' Chorus and selections from "Carousel" by the Charmettes.

Choruses also presented Easter music on April 13, and on May 14, the annual Spring Concert. Members of the Symphonic Choir performed for the Mount Vernon Methodist Church, the Belle Haven Women's Club, Church of the Epiphany, and the Virginia Hills Citizens Association during the year. Several of the members participated in contests concerning books of the Bible with other Bible Club Quizzers from high schools in Northern Virginia. They are: Sam Rakes, captain; Judy Campbell, Linda Hatcher, Larry Lilley, Belle Richey, and Barbara Hand. These drillers are most energetic and successful.

Artists dabble in fine arts.

If you like to draw, then the Art Guild is the place for you. The members' first goal is to start off their year with getting acquainted. They accomplished this by having a picnic at Great Falls, and by holding an art show in October.

The Art Guild was very active in many school events. Members helped do the murals for the December Freeze and co-sponsored this dance as well. Outstanding Art Guild members painted the backdrops for the Jubilee and Drama Club presentations, and decorated bulletin boards.

International flavor spices Social Studies program.

"Keeping up with the news" could have been an apt motto for the Social Studies Club, for discussions on current topics were frequent. Meetings were held twice a month, and members were required to have a "B" average in Social Studies.

Highlights of the year included a talk by Ronald King, a film on Turkey, and a panel discussion on the controversial issue of capital punishment. Members of the Government, American History, and World History classes were privileged to hear Mrs. Jacobs tell them about her visit to Russia at a fall assembly.

Budding scientists perform experiments and research.

Visiting the Engineer Research and Development Laboratories at Ft. Belvoir was a big event for Groveton's Science Club. They had the opportunity to see the electron microscope, a demonstration with liquid air, and the testing program in use for military devices.

Those members particularly interested in biology spent a number of their bi-monthly meetings studying the anatomy of the cat. As a part of this study, a preserved cat was purchased for dissection. During the spring, they had their meetings out-of-doors to study the numerous forms of plant and animal life found in the area. Those students preferring the physical sciences held meetings once a week. Three guest speakers gave stimulating lectures; Dr. Harralik talked about relativity, Ralph Stair spoke on rock formations and fluorescent minerals, and Mr. Harler gave a demonstration on the effect of low temperature.

Among the many projects during the year, the chief one was sending up a balloon containing a mouse and bringing it back to earth.

Flying Tigers arouses individual initiative.

"They fly through the air with the greatest of ease!" Members of the Flying Tigers, Groveton's new model air plane club, proved this statement to be a fact as they presented their activities throughout the year. The club took advantage of Funerama festivities not only to entertain the public but to announce their Air Spectacular on May 14, at Beacon Air Field. Stunt shows, combat exhibitions, and free flight models were demonstrated. These activities provided an opportunity for those members aspiring to study aviation and physics to combine knowledge of aeronautics with personal pleasure.

Chess, a game of wits, requires skill and concentration.

"Checkmate!" was a familiar cry heard when a member of the Chess Club trapped his opponent. This absorbing game was played by members each Friday. Competition with other chess clubs in Fairfax County offered players an opportunity to test their skills, as well as to learn new techniques. Out of twenty members, the five most outstanding players received letters at the end of the year.

Many students at Gravatán, in planning for the future, joined clubs designed to help them decide if nursing, business, or teaching were the vocation for them.

Encouragement of greater interest in the teaching and coaching professions was the goal set by the Future Teachers of America. Four members representing the Gravatán F. T. A. chapter at the state convention in Roanoke in November were Janet Mann, Reta Raybold, Sybil Phillips and Datie Wilson. In the spring members packed their bags again to visit area colleges and universities. Many phases of campus life were revealed to them at William and Mary, Georgetown, and others. The F. T. A. planned the "Name the Baby" Contest held in February. Baby pictures of faculty members were displayed in a showcase to be identified by students. A number of teachers were delighted with the shiny red apples found on their desks during American Education Week in November, and with the candy favors at Christmas with F. T. A. greetings.

To increase their knowledge of nursing as a career, ten girls at Groveton joined the Future Nurses of America program. During February, this organization, sponsored by Miss Wilson, visited the Washington, D. C. General Hospital and the Washington Hospital Center. Speakers from the Washington Hospital Center shared their personal experiences as nurses with the F. N. A. members. In the spring, they were invited to the McLean F. N. A. for a tea, and later went to John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Several important events were sponsored by the Future Business Leaders of America, such as the "December Freeze" on December 19. The activities of the club, displayed in a scrapbook of wood bearing the F. B. L. A. emblem, continued throughout the year.

Career Week, sponsored by the businessmen and chambers of commerce in Northern Virginia, kept members busy helping with contests and doing errands. In May, a field trip to the N. E. A. Building offered enjoyment as well as information.

On December 19, the December Freeze, sponsored by the F. B. L. A. and the Art Guild, transformed the cafeteria into a shimmering ballroom with the help of decorations and music. A motif of gold and white, a backdrop of blue and gold Christmas tree decorations, and white tissue wreaths adorning gold bows made the transformation. by Language Club programs.

From French crossword puzzles to an exchange day with the Maret School, Le Cercle francais has had an educational and entertaining schedule. Two speakers were invited to the club this year; Bob Hansan, Gravenston's Foreign Representative, told of his trip to Europe, and a native Frenchwoman spoke about life in the French provinces. The contagious spirit of Noel visited the French Club, as members sang familiar carols "en francais" at their monthly meeting in December.

"Salve!" was the greeting heard once a month when the Latin Club met. This organization promoted interest in the Latin language, culture and customs.

Buying snacks after school pleases students as well as the members of the Latin Club who sponsored the bake sale.

Strengthened by liberal servings of apple cider and cookies, club members translated amusing Latin limericks at the November meeting. During the Christmas season they learned about the Roman celebration of the Saturnalia, exchanged small gifts on which Roman names were written, and sang Christmas carols in Latin.

"This way, amigos," may have been heard during the Spanish Club's field trip to the Pan American Building on March 29. After a guided tour, the seniors and senaritas had dinner at the Restaurant El Mexico in Washington, D. C.

Varsity debaters, sponsored by Mrs. Howard, ended the season with the record of seven wins out of twelve contests in the Northern Virginia Debate League. The subject for this year was, "Resolved, that the Federal Government should substantially increase its regulation of labor unions."

At the William and Mary Debate Workshop, in January, three members of the Groveton Debate Team placed in the top six of seventy-two entries. Two months later, the negative team won the first-place trophy at the George Washington Debate Tournament. Pearce Fleming, an affirmative debator, was in the top ten of the same tournament. At the George Washington University Conference, held three weeks later, John Mark, affirmative speaker, was awarded third place, making him eligible for a full tuition scholarship at the university.

Students interested in any literary contest, written or oral, work with Miss Gentry, Forensics co-ordinator. To begin the season this year, a clinic, sponsored by the Virginia High School League, was held here on February 23 for Northern Virginia schools.

Of the several contests that Forensics members entered, the largest was the Northern Virginia League, on April 9, at Lee High School. A booklet of creative writings was entered for judging in the Virginia High School League. The Civitan Club sponsored an essay contest in which Bob Hanson won $25 and was eligible for a $1200 scholarship.

Members of the Varsity Debate team are Pearce Fleming, Second Affirmative; Bill Lyons, First Affirmative; Mary Anita Jones, First Negative; John Mork, Second Negative.

"Case of the Crushed Petunias"

Alice In Wonderland, the Tiger Theater's first presentation of 1959-60, was given in October after the club's unanimous vote the preceding year to produce it. Tiger Theater members spent long hours making the costumes and scenery during the summer. The success of the play led to the performance of one of the scenes at the Maryland Regional Drama Conference for Thespians, on November 4. Allan Stevens received the best actor award. The following week, the Northern Virginia Drama Forensic Clinic was invited to Groveton. This clinic, sponsored by the University of Virginia, helped members of the Tiger Theater to learn the "know-how" of dramatics. The Case of the Crushed Petunias was presented at Annandale High School as the contest play, on February 26. It was given a "distinguished" rating, making it eligible for entrance in competition in the State Meet in Charlottesville on March 25.

Drama Club members worked hard toward earning the ten points required to become a Thespian. Gaining these points necessitated participation in plays, and working backstage in different capacities such as make-up and costumes. More than forty of the eighty Tiger Theater members were Thespians, nineteen of which were inducted this year. Honor Thespians, the most outstanding members, were Allan Stevens, David Adams, Colleen Blackmun, Susan Goggin, and Terry Blackwell. They received the sixty required points and showed an avid interest in dramatics.

Darathy Simple, portrayed by Sarah Dickinson, is questioned by a police officer, a young man, and Mrs. Dull, played by Terry Blackwell, Allan Stevens, and Denise Kagelman, respectively. As the result of the enthusiasm demonstrated by the student body, the Oneirata staff had more orders than it was able to fill.

Armed with copies of the new Oneiroto, Phil Warden and Stan Burgess make the rounds of the sixth period classes.

Oneirata in Greek, means dreams or impressions. Students made this come to life by contributing poems, essays, and short stories. The purpose of the magazine was to publicize and publish these ideas for the school and community.

The cover of the new Oneiroto absorbs the attention at Tom Jahnsan and Mrs. Kogelman. All the covers were silk-screened by hand, under the direction of Allen Stevens.

Compiling and typing the writings submitted by students requires much thought and concentration. Staff members working behind the scenes are Stan Burgess, Stina Herrick, Jack Tidwell, and Phil Warden.

Honor Society renamed "Emory Chesley Chapter."

On January 28, the forty-seven members of the Honor Society changed the name of the Gravetan Chapter to the Emory Chesley Chapter of the National Honor Society. At the March induction, eight new members were chosen on the basis of leadership, scholarship, service and character.

The tutoring service, sponsored by the Honor Society, allowed members and other qualified student tutor for over 250 hours altogether. Another service of the Honor Society, introduced this year, was the bookstore, the profit of which went into a scholarship fund. Books sold at the store were those required for classes and others desired by students for extra reading.

At one of the fall meetings Bob Hansan reported on the European trip that he took last summer. Discussions were also held concerning ways to improve school spirit and student-teacher relations. At Thanksgiving, the Honor Society took charge of the distribution of food among the less fortunate families.

Kicked off by the first joint subscription campaign of the Tiger Rag and Tigerama, the former's most successful year began. "Service to the School" was the paper's aim this year. With the support of 1,000 students, this organization was able to produce eight issues, including a special edition dedicated to Mr. Chesley when he resigned as principal.

For the first time, a newspaper class, composed of most of the fourteen staff members met once a day. Twenty-five other club members helped make the publication of the newspaper possible. Candy and bake sales and a sack hap augmented the financial condition of the newspaper. Other financial help was the support of the businesses through ads. During August the staff met at a picnic and other social occasions, planned and launched a successful Ad Drive which ran through September. A special Easter Ad Drive was held to aid the patrons in the Spring.

Mrs. Woodard, the sponsor, entertained members of the staff and their dates in November. She, with three staff members: Louisa Frank, Dudley Dickinson, and Judy White went to S.I.P.A., April 28-30.

Tigerama, in new colors,

From the time last Moy, when the new staff was announced at the annual banquet, until this spring, when the completed book came back from press, service prevailed as the leading factor for these workers. This vital spirit began when fifteen members of the yearbook gained invaluable experience at the National Scholastic Press Association Conference on August 27, 28, and 29, in Washington, D. C. It further progressed during the summer-fall Ad Drive and the Circulation Drive, in the month of October. Interest and enjoyment were promoted through dinners, parties, and social festivities.

Combined with service in striving to reach a common goal was the anticipation experienced by the thirty yearbook members. Throughout the year, there were disappointments and problems. For instance, the staff found out at the beginning of the school year that there was to be an evolution of the entire school system in October. They decided to use "evaluation" as a theme. However, it was postponed until December, again until March. This made it extremely difficult for the yearbook members to build the book around this theme. Also, this year presented problems that no other staff had to face. There were many changes in the administration and in the faculty. But because of previous experience and training, the staff was flexible and was able to meet these difficulties.

When the book hit the halls, it was a "red letter" day for yearbook workers. After recalling the time and effort spent during the year, the members always feel rewarded when critical analysis come from the press associations, shown here, of which Tigerama is a member.

A discussion of better yearbook techniques is held by delegates who attended the N.S.P.A. conference, held in Washington, D. C., on August 27-29. They are: Kathie Drake, Ellen Shapiro, Barbie Uhle, Carole Metts, Carolyn Christmas, Emily Shohan, Marilyn Mays, Ernest Williams, Carol Beale, Minnie Lou Davis, Miss Morris, and Ginnie Peirce.

One of the major undertakings of the '60 staff was the Ad drive held in the fall. However, Mary Anne Beach and her losing partners postponed the entertaining of Barbie Uhle's winning team until January 4, making it a New Year's party.

Combining forces, the newspaper and yearbook conducted a joint circulation drive. The planning board for the campaign consists of Jessie Weisiger, Sharon Peters, Janice Thompson, Minnie Lou Davis, and Ginnie Peirce.

Producing this yearbook required creativity, flexibility, long hours, and hard work: Ellen Shapiro and Susan Stebbins lay out classes; Ginnie Peirce checks pages; Jacki Potter composes while Marilyn Mays types copy; Frances Welborn works on "Tigerama" records; and Stephanie DeCamp arranges classes.

Ernest Williams and Frances Welborn receive help from Ellen Shapiro in laying out the Ad section.

Looking in on athletic participation . . .

the committee found that more than one-third of the student body took part in one of the following sports: football, hockey, basketball, wrestling, baseball, softball, track, golf, and cheerleading.

Many improvements were noticed such as the spacious 2000-capacity bleachers for Gravenet football fans, and the nearly 500-capacity stands for the visitors. The addition of new bleachers in the gym raised the total seating capacity to 700-800.

Accomplishments of several teams are to be commended. The Varsity Five placed second in the County, and gained a berth in the Northern Virginia Tournament. Another second place in the County was earned by the Varsity Hockey girls. The undefeated Junior Varsity Football team won the Fairfax County Championship for the second straight year. More than 150 boys experienced athletic competition in the fine intramural basketball program. However, there is a definite need for a girls' intramural program.

As Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Cunningham look on the first track meet, on April 2, in which all Fairfax County Schools participated, they are no doubt very proud of the first of two tracks in the County. They recalled that last fall our stadium was dedicated, and for the first time home games were played.

"Tigers loyal, always for you . . ." describes the peppy girls that compose both the Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleading squads. Downpours, such as the one which occurred during the Homecoming game, dampened everything except the spirit boosted by the cheerleaders.

In addition to leading pep rollies held at our new stadium, Varsity cheerleaders decorated goal posts and sold booster ribbons prior to each football game. Accompanying the pep band in "concerts" in the lobby before several basketball games and putting up signs in the gym further aroused school spirit. Programs were sold by the J.V. cheerleaders during Varsity football games.

New outfits replaced those that had been worn for the three previous years. The Varsity sported black sweaters, gold collars, and gold pleated skirts with black inserts. Colorful pom-poms added a gay touch to their costumes. Although the J. V. uniforms also included a black sweater often worn in bootneck fashion, their skirts were black, with gold inserts.

Miniature gold megaphones were awarded to senior members, Pat DeYoung, Betty Jeanne Knight, Doris Lilly, Faye Pittman, and Ellen Shapiro, at the annual Fall Sports Banquet.

Long awaited and anticipated football stadium completed in time

Mr. Hess, backfield coach; Mr. Fern, line coach; and Mr. Tabor, head coach; look over the order for the new football jerseys.

A long-awaited dream was realized as the Tigers initiated Groveton's new football field on October 3, with a convincing 61-0 victory over Madison. Games with Annandale and George Washington were played at home even though our field had not yet been entirely fenced; however, this did not affect the Groveton spirit.

Falls Church and Lee were the only other victories; the season resulted in three wins, six losses, and one tie. In four of the six defeats, the difference was only one point. The Homecoming game with Osburn, played on a rain-soaked field at Lee High School, ended in a 13-13 deadlock.

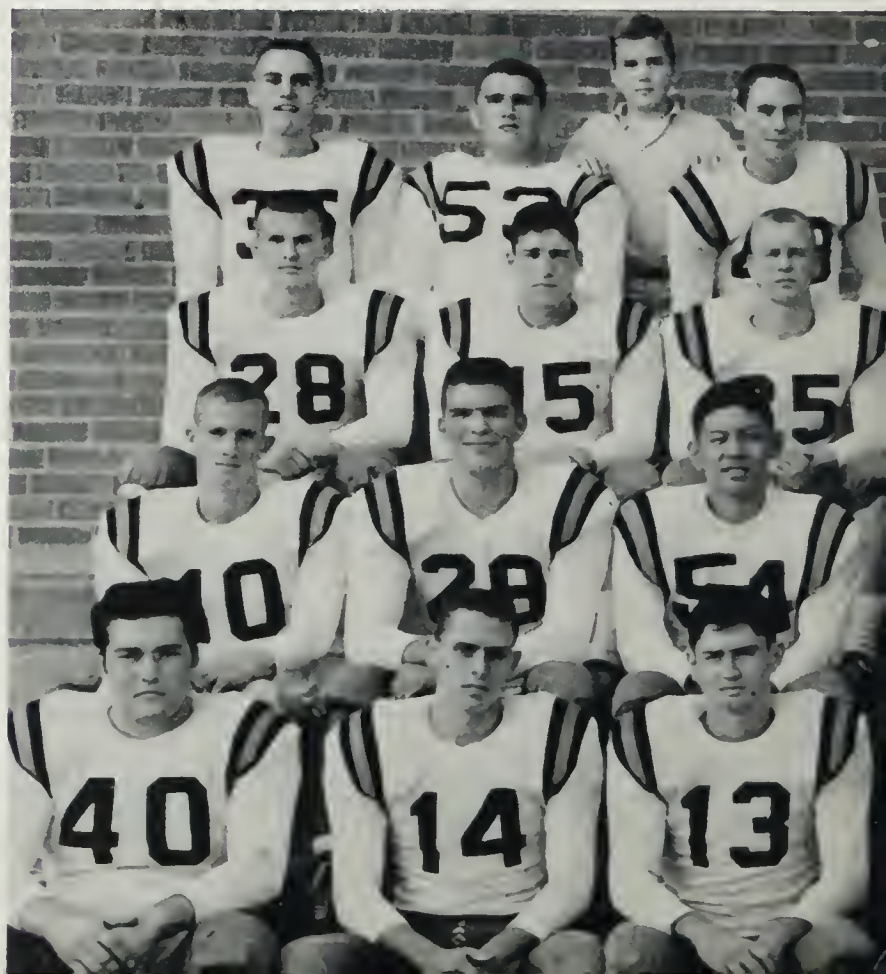

Fullback Julio Bantancaurt received the Player-of-the-Week award after the McLean game in which he scored all 19 points. He was also honored with a position on the All-Northern Virginia team. This hustling senior concluded a brilliant four-year career in which he scored 196 points.

Due to the loss to the Majors, by only one point, the Mount Vernon Kiwanis Club trophy was claimed by Mount Vernon High School.

At the annual Fall Sports Banquet, Coaches Tobor, Hess, and Fern presented the various trophies for outstanding performances to the following boys: Julio Bantancaurt, Offensive Back; Bobby McPherson, Defensive Back; Charlie Pickering, Offensive Lineman; Aaron Hoak, Andy McPherson was honored as "Most Improved Player"; and Jimmy Julian was given the Sportsmanship Award.

place in County; J.V.'s less successful.

For the first time in Groveton's history, the girls' Varsity Hockey team, coached by Miss Carol Pauley, placed second in county ratings with an outstanding 6-2 record.

Experience may be attributed as one of the main factors in this highly successful season. Four-year veterans, Beth Arbogast and Maureen Harris, and three-year player Polmiro Betoncourt, were among several returning letter-winners.

Defense was no problem as goalkeeper and co-captain Pam Dickson allowed only four points all year. Of sixteen goals scored, Foye Pittman, named Most Valuable Player, accounted for eleven. The halfbacks, also, proved themselves to be indispensable.

Gomes with Mount Vernon, Annondole, and McLean were evenly matched, and provided thrilling moments for all.

The J. V.'s, coached by Mrs. Ingham, ended the season with no wins, four losses, and one tie. Two outstanding players were co-captain Beth Thompson and Millie Neitzey.

Although the game with Fairfax resulted in a scoreless tie, the margin in every other contest was never more than one point.

place in County; sixth in District.

"They said it couldn't be done," but the Varsity Basketball team consistently improves with age. It placed second in the County and finished the season with an excellent 12-8 record. The Tigers, seeded sixth in the Northern Virginia Tournament, were ousted by third place W-L, who later captured tourney honors.

After winning six of the first seven games, Groveton lost five in a row, thus toppling from first place in the district. Following the victory over Osbourn, which halted the slump, five wins and two defeats were added to their credit. The first Mt. Vernon game was the best single effort, as clutch shooting paid off in a thrilling 67-66 win over the arch-rivals.

Barriers such as inexperience had to be surmounted, for most players were either rookies or J. V. graduates. Only Roy Frole and Mert Hoover had previously entered Varsity competition. These two were team high scorers with 15.0 and 9.6 averages, respectively. Frole, sixth ranked scorer in the league, was named to the All-Northern Virginia Second Team, and Hoover received Honorable Mention. John Neary gained Honorable Mention for All-County.

Merely five seniors were squad members. Frole, a versatile performer, was the team's sparkplug. Pivotman Hoover connected on lay-ups and short shots. Forward Mike Rosenmorkle snagged numerous rebounds. Fronk Pocker and Fleo Cox, excellent outside shots, made up in determination what they lacked in height.

Coch Confield lends words of encouragement to the team during a time out, as he cites strong and weak points of defensive and offensive units.

Up and over! Charlie Jaynes wins the high jump event in the Fairfax meet with a leap of 5'7".

Groveton, as well as Cooches Hess and Canfield, now boosts the first and only cinder track in Fairfax County. On April 2, the County Relays marked its official inauguration as the Tiger thinclods placed second, close behind Annondole.

Although only six cindermen were sent to the Alexandria Relays on April 9, each boy scored, thus giving Groveton sixth place in a field of twenty-three schools. The Tigers were victorious in their first three dual meets, defeating McLean and Mt. Vernon on April 6, Falls Church on April 13, and Fairfax on April 20.

Speedsters Julio Betancourt and Steve Herrera were consistent winners, as were the sprinting McPherson brothers, Bobby and Andy. Groveton presented a double threat to opponents in the pole vault event with both Jack Tidwell and Frank Packer, a rookie, jumping well over ten feet.

Earlier and lesser meets served to prepare the team for the Northern Virginia and State Meets in May.

Returning in tap form from a leg injury, Julia Betancourt sprints the 100 yd. dash in 10.7 seconds; Andy McPhersan and Bob Bates, only steps behind, give Groveton a clean sweep in this event.

Virginia McEliece, J. V. third baseman, prepares herself for a fast ball from the Annandale pitcher.

Varsity outfielder Judy Main had little trouble reaching vacated first base in the Lee game.

softball teams to start slowly.

With the brisk air of March still in the air, candidates for Girls' Softball teams were practicing on the block top. Rainy weather limited practice sessions and forced the postponement of the start of the season.

Returning lettermen composed the Varsity squad for the most part. Hitting was the strongest department. Sloppy fielding and the lack of a control pitcher caused the Tigeresses to drop two of the first three games.

Falls Church and Annandale defeated the girls, while Lee was a victory. High scores marked all three games.

Lack of experience posed a problem to the Junior Varsity team coached by Miss Mary Ann Pietro. They lost a one-sided contest to Annandale in the first game of their season.

A Spring Sports Bonquet climaxed the year. At this time Varsity letters and gold softballs for senior members were presented by Mrs. Jean Inghom, Varsity coach.

Hard-hitting shortstop-outfielder Jean Lang steadies herself before rapping out a single.

Tigers early slump spoils

Frank Packer speeds to first and makes the wide turn toward second during the Fairfax game.

Although the Varsity nine was rated as a pennant contender in pre-season predictions, it spoiled any chance of winning the Championship by dropping the first five contests.

This slump at the beginning of the year mystified everyone including the Tigers. Experience was not the problem. Many boys had been team members for two or three years. Ray Fraley, probably the best first baseman in the league, and speedy outfielder Julio Betancourt, both seniors, and played first string since their freshman year.

Hurlers Billy Schools and Lefty Everett returned from the 1959 Varsity and were considered among the best pitchers in the district.

Batting, fielding, and pitching departments potentially left little to be desired; opposing teams simply out-batted, out-fielded, and out-pitched the Tigers.

Home games were played at home for the first time even though sufficient stands were not available.

Three successive wins without a defeat have been added to the J.V.'s credit as Tigerama goes to press. It is a seasoned team with seven players returning from the 1959 Northern Virginia Championship team that compiled a record of nine wins and only one loss.

Neither defense nor offense presents any problems as the team is strong in both departments, but an outstanding mound staff is perhaps the best asset.

Pete Denitto picked up an easy win at the expense of Fairfax; Bill Taylor came from behind to defeat W-L with clutch pitching; Bob Stewart hurled a two-hitter against the Raiders of Stuart, while he lashed out five hits in six trips to the plate.

Golfers oppose area schools in match play competition.

Spring is the time when some young men's fancy turns to golf. Early in the season, the ten members of the team began practice at the Fort Belvoir golf course. Following these practice sessions, the boys challenged other teams at various area courses and country clubs in match play competition.

Lettermen sponsor UNICEF drive.

Those students who proudly display letter sweaters and bold "G" pins are members of the Monogram Club. Eligibility is based on the earning of a Varsity letter through athletic competition. Enthusiasm for improving school spirit was reflected by their efforts to promote good sportsmanship and team co-operation by introducing a sportsmanship code. By sponsoring a sock-hop, they financed a permanent plaque to display the code in the gym.

GROVETON'S FOUR-SPORT LETTERWINNERS.—Faye Pittman has received eight Varsity letters: three in softball and basketball, and one in cheerleading and hackey. Frank Packer lettered in football, basketball, and track in his senior year, while lettering in baseball in his junior and senior years.

"Trick or treat for UNICEF!" Bob Hanson cheerfully contributes to the worthy drive that Girls Monogram Club officers Carol Ernst, Maureen Davies, and Maureen Harris, and Sponsor Mrs. Lindberg strived to make successful.

Cheerleading, football, basketball, and baseball . . .

Eighth Grade sports enable lower classmen to participate in athletics; they cannot play on Varsity or Junior Varsity teams, for they are not yet an actual part of high school. Players gain experience essential for future Varsity inter-scholastic competition.

Football season did not prove too successful as the Baby Tigers ended the year with a record of one win, four losses, and two ties. Trigger Vance was voted the Sportsmanship Award by his teammates.

Only two of eight contests were lost by the Basketball team. Sharpshooters Gary Calhoun, the Sportsmanship Award winner, and the Herrera twins, Robert and David, contributed to the highest total of points scored by any Gravettan 8th grade team in one season.

Eighth Grade Cheerleaders were always up bright and early on Saturday mornings to spur the teams on.

John Herbei, in the first home game of the season, pitched the Baseball team to a 4-0 shut out of Mt. Vernon. Much is expected from this highly-rated squad.

Presenting the individual . . .

paves the way for self-evaluation. Before studying the accomplishments made by the various clubs, sports, and other available activities, it is imperative that we look at ourselves as individuals. We are the ones who make all the organizations what they are now. Without our individual initiative, resourcefulness, and display of loyalty and diligence, student organizations would not have been established.

Cooperation and honesty are vital for the betterment of teacher-student relationships, and for our personal advancement. As students sign the Honor Code, they take upon themselves the responsibility of upholding the standards and ideals of their school. Graveton will progress only when each student accepts his responsibility of constantly improving himself.

Presenting the Honor Graduates...

"Where E'er You Walk . . .," this year's commencement theme, appropriately fits the diversity of future plans chosen by the Class of 1960. From a total of 215 graduates, 60% plan to attend college, the remaining 40%, to follow nursing, business training, preparatory schools, and military service. Fifty-eight percent of the entire class maintained a 2.0 and above average.

One hundred-sixty of these graduates entered Groveton when it first opened its doors in 1956, and the group has now grown to be the largest senior class. Because of the size of the class, an outdoor commencement was planned for June 9, in the stadium.

IN MEMORIAM

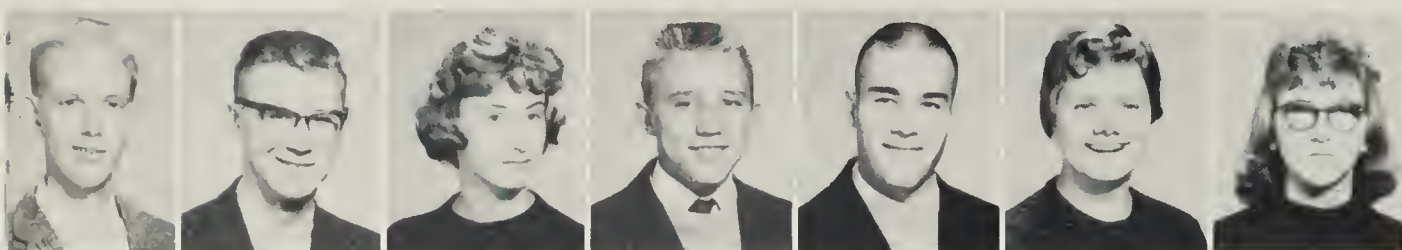

William Henry Alvarez, better known to his fellow students as Alvy, left us on December 5, 1959, after a fatal automobile accident.

Alvy was active in all sports, including football, basketball, and track from his 8th grade through his sophomore year. His friends will long remember him for his easy-going and friendly personality, and are comforted by the following:

"When we are called to part
It gives us inward pain,
But we shall still be joined in heart,
And hope to meet again.

This hope removes all pain,
From sorrow, we shall be free,
And perfect love and friendship reign
Through all eternity.

Surveying our community . . .

... Tigerama ad salesmen found businesses that expressed an avid interest as well as a great deal of respect for Groveton High. Contacts for ads held in October and early November resulted in ninety-four commercial organizations cooperating in the publication of Tigerama '60. Student representing our yearbook profitted by the valuable experience gained from meeting the public and felt that many good relationships were made with the business community.

After taking a look at previous ad drives, the staff worked toward the improvement and attractiveness of this section by using more pictures. Tigerama urges students and parents to patronize these stores.

Before the official Christmas shopping season began, the Advertising Manager distributed lists of the businesses featured here. As is pictured, some "Tigers" decided to do their Christmas shopping while getting ads.

The ham, tender and juicy, is tackled with hardy efforts by Jack Tidwell and Miss Morris while the rest of the club eagerly waits.

"Could I interest you in an ad in our yearbook?" inquires Sandy Shelton of Bob Wagner while Jack Tidwell makes out a contract in a skit demonstrating the proper way to get on ad.

Yumm! Good to the last bite! The yearbook members enjoy the annual Ad "Kick-Off" Banquet while eating baked potatoes and ham.

Ernest Williams, Ad Manager, explains the ad drive theme to the two team captains, Barbie Uhle and Mary Anne Beach, acting as safari guides.

"Into deepest Africa in search of a Tiger" was the theme of the 1960 TIGERAMA Ad Drive. The yearbook members divided into two teams, and chose a goal of $1960. The hunt began after the "Kick-Off" Banquet was held in the Home Economics Department on October 15. On November 31, the campaign came to a close; the Tiger had not been found by the hunters and the goal was not reached.

"To the victor belongs the spoils" explains why Mary Anne's team gave a party for Barbie's winning one at the end of the campaign.

CLASS OF 1960

Seeing ourselves

As the Evaluation Committee looked in our school on March 27, 28, and 29, they, too, saw it in "shades of gray." The following is an excerpt from the report:

"The committee commends the school for the interest and enthusiasm displayed by the faculty and the student body; for the fine spirit of cooperation evidenced by the excellent relationships between pupils and teachers; and for the contributions made by an active S.C.A. The extra-curricular program has enough variety to meet the pupil needs; and the availability of time, facilities, and supervision to complete this activity is to be commended. The faculty and staff are to be commended for their preparation and planning in the subject matter areas and for the effort made to relate these areas to pupil requirements."

In preparing for the forthcoming evolution year, the entire faculty divided into committees last spring, and made a study of the various departments and activities and reported on their findings.

On Sunday night, March 27, a reception was held for the Evaluation Committee. Mrs. Dolozik was one of the many who gave preliminary reports.

Monday afternoon found Mr. Elmer Torroll, Mr. Donald Griffith, and Mr. Warren Littleton working in the teachers' lounge, the committee's headquarters, on reports of their classroom evolution.

Tuesday night, the faculty held a buffet supper to get acquainted with the committee members and to get their reactions after observation.

Mr. Hough and Mr. Allen Mondell, member of the Science Committee, look in at an experiment in the chemistry lab.

as others see us.

Among the suggestions for improvement were these:

1. "Continue to enrich and develop the program of studies by adding additional subjects.
2. Make increased effort to use the extensive community resources in this area.
3. Increase remedial facilities and adjustive services.
4. Consider needs of pupils not continuing education, and plan schedule and offerings accordingly."

"The committee appreciates the full co-operation and assistance given by administration, faculty, and pupils of Groveton High School. This greatly aided the study, and the committee sincerely thanks these groups for their interest and participation."

Mr. Robert Maidment, Head of the Pupil Activity Committee, discusses the extra-curricular program with the S.C.A. Cabinet.

Upon looking in on the procedure of this English class, Miss Gladys Miller leaves after her satisfying observation.

Mr. Warren Littleton and Mr. MacRae admire the new Honor Code plaque, while Tom Russo and Liz Odoroff, members of the Ethics Committee, rejoice at their efforts.

Mrs. Williams spent all day typing reports for the Evaluation Committee before they left.

Mr. Gibbs happily receives the evaluation reports from Mr. McRae, Head of the entire committee, just before they left on March 30.

"Now that we've reviewed school life, let's take a look at world affairs," says Bob Honson to Muffy Leahy, John Mork, Nancy Goers, and Wayne Goad.

Evaluation stimulates further challenges.

Now that our presentation of this evaluation is completed, we challenge you to look critically at your individual and group activities. We hope this gives you an opportunity to review the development and accomplishments of Groveton High School, while reminiscing on pleasant memories. Only as we recognize and profit from our shortcomings, as well as our achievements, will this evaluation be of worth.

Evaluation must not stop here. For those of us who return in September, we must continue to look at ourselves and improve until the shades of gray grow lighter. And to those who leave in June, may the experiences here help to make citizens who think critically and constructively in national and international affairs, so that all may live in a world of peace. May we find strength for tomorrow in taking a look at ourselves today.
